Born in Curaçao, the Caribbean, and having spent my pre-adolescent years in the Americas, Europe, Asia, and Oceania has made me open-minded, cultured, and empathetic to different points of view. I am a very active and proactive person who loves having variety in their role whilst maintaining high attention to detail, being adaptable and working under pressure. I'm an experiential learner and bring this forward in my work whether that is teaching or driving cross-functional teams to work at their best.
